FAVORITES AT WASHINGTON

FOUR OUT OF SIX GIVE THEIR BACK-ERS A GOOD DAY.

Pins and Needles Wins the Vestal Stakes-Oraculum Repeats-Killiecrankie Scores for Daly.

Washington, D. C., November 20 .- The weather man made another of his lightning changes in the climatic program and the overhanging clouds were positively threatening in their demeanor, casting a gloom over the race course today, which was depressing in contrast with the sunshine and warmth of yesterday. The only recompense afforded the race-goer was the better quality of the card offered today. The sixth renewal of both the Vestal Stakes the Chevy Chase open selling steeplechase for gentlemen riders were the features of the day. The steeplechase lost most of its attractiveness by the withdrawal of one half of the horses entered and the feature on the flat was also marred by the best of the Aste entry, Gold Lady, remaining in the stable. The unimproved heavy going was the cause of all the fields being reduced until all prosof good contests were out of the question, four favorites winning. This had the effect of putting the weather-depressed crowd in good humor, as the choices were all well backed by the public. There was a considerable improvement in the betting today. The amount of currency in evidence in the ring would not indicate any contraction of the circulating medium or that this was the fag end of the racing season.

Monopolist, by showing considerable improvement over his last effort, proved good enough to win the first race from good opponents, among them three which had scored in their last races here. Rosi-miro, which defeated Falcada, Jubilee and Smoker yesterday, was made the favorite on the strength of that performance, having Doyle up again today. The Pontiac colt from the Ryan Stable showed the most early speed and proceeded to set a fast pace, but finally gave up the task in the stretch and was lucky to save third money. The winner went up in the betting and was only lightly backed, while thousands were placed on the favorite.

Kara was much the best in the Chevy Chase. Mr. Taylor gave him a well-judged ride and while not anything like a gap he was under stiff pull all through the last furlong. Mr. Taylor given a $200 silver cup by the stewards. Navajo, ridden by his owner, was equally second best. Essex II. showed speed, but fenced poorly.

Dulcian showed the most speed for the first turn of the course, but quit in the last half after fencing hadly.

The Vestal Stakes was won by Pins and Needles in a canter. She was well rated by Notter for the first mile and easily went to the front, passing the leaders and after a sharp brush with Estimate led through the stretch, winning in a canter. The stable thought Estimate capable of winning and did not start Gold Lady. Estimate ran a good race, but was not good enough to beat the winner today. Grace Cameron led for the first mile on sufferance and quit badly at the end.

Oraculum, owned and trained by ex-jockey Odom was backed for thousands at the short price of 1 to 2. His owner made no pretense of keeping his belief in the fitness of the colt under cover and all his friends poured their money into the Oraculum led from start to finish and was ridden out all the way by McDaniel for some reason of other. He did not take any chances, riding the colt as if he was trying to equal the track record.

The Heno filly, Trash, belied her name when she won the fifth race after opening at 4 to 5 and closing at 7 to 10, the good looking Octoic and New Garter being her nearest competitors in the speculation, both closing at 6 to 1. Trash ran as if best, drew out at the head of the stretch and won cantering and well ridden by Notter, who had previously ridden two winners. Norbitt set the early pace and probably was second best. McDaniel eased New Garter up when beaten.

Killiecrankie won the handicap which finished the card and incidentally was the first winner out of the Daly Stable since Sailor Boy won at odds at Gravesend the latter part of last May. st going by jockey The filly was placed in the be Swain and, under a hustling ride, won by a comfortable margin at the end. Ostrich finished second after swerving badly in the stretch. Ironsides was favorite in the opening betting, but the paddock talent said he would not run kindly in the going which had the effect of his price receding to 3 to 1. He was a contender to the stretch but tired badly Ocean Spray set the early pace, but quit badly when Killiecrankie moved up.

Liebert rode three winners again today. The crowd was good considering the showery state of and took a lively interest in features of the afternoon. They were moved to applause when Taylor was presented with an elaborate silver cup after winning the race for gentlemen riders.

CANADIAN TRACK BETTING LAWFUL.

Court of Appeals Decides Method in Use at Toronto Is Legal.

Last spring Moylett & Bailey, bookmakers doing business at Woodbine Park, Toronto, were arrested on a charge of keeping a common gaming house They were convicted on trial before a police magistrate. The case was appealed and last Friday, No-15, the Court of Appeals, by unanimous vember vote of the judges, reversed this conviction. The result is that betting as conducted at Toronto is held to be lawful and the bookies can hereafter carry on their calling in Canada on the walk-about system without fear of molestation. Of the de-cision, one of the Toronto newspapers says editori-"As Mr. Justice Meredith said in his judgally: ment in the Court of Appeals, quashing the formal conviction in the stated case against two book-makers who did business at Woodbine race course, it is not easy for the lay or the professional mind to understand why it should not be lawful for them to do so in some particular place, under the con-trol and regulation of a reputable club in an orderly manner, when it is lawful for them to do so in a manner less orderly and offensive, such as moving about in a crowd to the discomfort and inconveni-ence of those about them. This absurdity might be removed by the authority of Parliament, which provided many years ago that, in accordance with the legislation on the subject in all British countries, betting should be confined to race courses or The judgment of the Court of Appeals race days. establishing the legality of the methods of betting at Woodbine was unanimous. The legality of the betting cannot be questioned, and, now that the particular method is also found equally proper, it is probable that the Ontario Jockey Club will not be subject to further harrassing or annoyance, which was the only outcome of all the prosecutions that have been instituted. The right to speculate or race courses was long ago assured by Parliament to that portion of the public which desired to take advantage of it, but there has been a systematic effort in Toronto, and in Toronto alone, not to effect any change in the law, but to prevent the people from enjoying a privilege that the law ad mittedly gave them."

The main points of the decision handed down are contained in the following utterances of the judges:
"The defendants," says Chief Justice Moss, were bookmakers and were two of those who did bet from day to day, through their assistants, with members of the general public who, like themselves, have paid for admission to the enclosure.

"The defendants and their assistants did not use any desk, stool, umbrella, tent or booth or erec tion of any kind to mark any place where bets were made. No part of the general enclosure was allotted to the defendants, or any other book makers; they were not restricted to the use of any portion of the general enclosure and no one any rights or privileges therein. There was nothing in or on the ground to fix a place where the defendants could be found.

"Viewed apart from the authorities by which the court is bound, it is obvious that there must be not only a house, office, room, or other place, but it must be one capable of being opened, kept or used for the purpose of betting. And there must some person who is entitled to exercise the right of opening, keeping, or using to the exclusion of the exercise of a similar right by others except with his permission.

"Whatever doubts may have been entertained upon these points before the decision of the House of Lords in the leading case of Powell vs. The Kempton Park Race Course Co., affirming the Court of Appeals, must be considered set at rest by the result of that case, and unless the findings in the stated case disclose a condition of affairs different from those appearing in that case, the conviction cannot be sustained. There are no facts found which would justify our drawing an inference as to the enclosure in question here, and the uses made of it by the defendants contrary to that which was held to be proper in the Kempton Park

"In this case, it is not and could not be co strued that the defendants could be regarded as the owners, occupiers, or keepers of the enclosure."

The court holds that the fact that the bookies conducted their betting within a radius of ten feet did not constitute that a "place" within the mean ing of the act.

Mr. Justice Meredith, speaking of the Saunders case, in which the keeper of a booth was found guilty under the act, says:

"The result cannot be very satisfactory to any one; and to those who are not learned in the law, and indeed to those who are, or are supposed to be -it may seem somewhat absurd that Saunders, in the lawful occupation of betting in the more or-derly and less offensive—to those to whom betting in any mode is offensive-manner should be ad judged guilty of keeping a disorderly house and punished accordingly, whilst these defendants, who carried on the same business upon the same race course in a less orderly and inoffensive manner, should be adjudged not guilty of the same offens and be discharged, that it is lawful for anyonto go about from place to place, among the public anywhere, making bets, unrestrained and uncontrolled, and yet unlawful to do in some particular place under the control and regulation of a repu-place under the control and regulation of a reputable racing club, in a more orderly manner."

Judge Osler says: "It appears to me that the case presents no serious difficulty except in understanding how our decision in Rex vs. Saunders, affirmed in the Supreme Court, could have been thought to justify the conviction."

Mr. Justice Osler, in quoting the Kempton Park

Horses Likely to Contest First Stake Race at

New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., November 20.-The weights for the Initial Handicap to be run next Saturday at City Park were announced this morning. They em-brace forty-two nominees, Bugler being accorded top weight at 119 pounds, while Jennie's Beau is allotted the minimum of 87. The nominations consist of some prominent performers, and Secretary Maginn expects the following to go to the post: Lolus Eater, 118; Tileing, 116: Okenite, 116; Keator, 115; Lad of Langden, 112; Lexoline, 112; Druid, 111; Chief Hayes, 109; Fantastic, 101; Mike Sutton, 100; Sally Preston, 96; Jersey Lady, 96, and Ed Kane Work watchers are inclined to favor Sally Preston at the weights. She is reported in superb form and will be accorded smart backing.

There was a change in plans of the opposition racing that the so-called Louisiana Driving and Rac ing Club intends foisting on the public this winter. The new arrangement calls for racing in the fore noon, the first race to start at 11 a. m., and to have the sport over at the half-mile track fully half an hour before the racing starts at the big tracks. Although no announcement has been made by the executive committee of the Crescent City and City Park tracks relative to action they will take if the plan is adhered to, it is understood that any one taking part in the racing at the halfmile courses after the opening of the greater tracks, will receive seant recognition.

A. Kirby, who will have charge of the field books at both tracks, was summoned to New York on account of the illness of his brother. Uneasy, which is a member of his stable, is in a serious condition and little hope is entertained for her recovery.

J. R. Taylor's Pleasant View Belle was taken off the cars this afternoon in bad condition.

J. H. Baker's consignment, which arrived at the same time, also suffered, several of the string havhigh fever. One of the horses was reported ing a high fever. Or in a dying condition.

R. A. Smith, who lost a Cesarion filly yester-day as a result of lung fever, sustained an addi-tional loss by the death of a highly tried Gold Heels colt. The youngster had been ailing, but little fear was entertained for his recovery. In some manner the colt got loose from his stall last night and was found dead in a ditch adjacent to the stable this afternoon.

Pat Dunne reports the loss of two yearlings by Marta Santa—Lentrenne and Marta Santa—Tag lioni. The former was owned by Dunne himself while the Taglioni filly was the property of Edward Corrigan.

MAY REVIVE RACING IN VIRGINIA

Bill to Legalize the Sport To Be Presented to Next Legislature.

Washington, D. C., November 20.—There is considerable talk among Virginia horsemen and breeders here for the race meeting of the Washington Jockey Club of a racing bill being introduced in the Virginia legislature this winter. It is said that a number of the prominent breeders of the state across the Potomac are now engaged in drafting such a bill, embracing all of the better features of racing laws of other states and avoiding their mistakes. The venerable Captain Breckenridge, father of Hunter G. Breckenridge, owner of the extensive breeding establishment, Catawba Farm, at Fincastle, is slated to launch the measure at the coming session of the legislature and captain the bill throughout its parliamentary voyage. If a racing bill is introduced and passed it is said that there will be race meetings held in Richmond, Lynchburg, Norfolk and Roanoke next year and at Alexandria in 1909. Richmond and Norfolk have race tracks already built, and the other towns could build them in a few months. These tracks have reasonable assurance that they will be recognized by the Jockey Club if the law

NOTES OF THE TURF.

In race 71727 Octoic should refer to race 71693. The lease on Horse Haven Farm held by Perry Belmont has been placed with W. H. McCorkle for disposal.

The only object for extending the city limits of Louisville, to take in both of the tracks, is said to be the question of taxation. J. C. Cooper has shipped his stable to Los Angeles for racing at Arcadia. Jockey T. Chandler will ride for the stable there this winter. Follow On will be retired to Antrim Stud at the close of the Washington Club meeting by her owner,

D. K. Kerr, and bred to Rochampton next spring. It is said that the Goughacres Stable will be raced in two divisions next year. They will each contain about twenty horses. One of them will only be raced Jockey Asher, who has not been riding since re ceiving an injury in a race at Atlanta, Ga., last October, is now at his home in Cincinnati. He is under contract to D. Hill.

Seymour Beutler, it is understood, will have charge of the Pinkerton force policing the Santa Anita track this winter. He has filled that position at Ascot Park for several seasons.

C. C. Thomas, a prominent bookmaker on the New York tracks during the past summer, is seriously ill at his home in Wayne. Pa. He was compelled to leave for home before the Aqueduct meeting closed.

Tom Knowlton, who booked at Ascot Park for several winters, is reported to be dying at Portland, Ore. He submitted to having his left foot amputated several weeks ago and he has been slowly ever since the operation was performed.

John W. Gates and his son Charles G. Gates who passed through Chicago the first of the week on their way to points in Texas on a business trip announced to friends while in the city that they would probably spend the greater part of the winter
